Tokyo, Japan - Crypto Garage, Inc. (Crypto Garage) is proud to announce the launch of our new custody and over-the-counter (OTC) trading services for digital assets. These new services are designed to provide our institutional clients with the highest level of security and convenience when it comes to managing their digital assets.

Our new custody service offers institutional-grade security with fully-regulated solutions. With this service, our clients can store their digital assets with confidence, knowing that they are protected by the latest security protocols and insurance coverage.

In addition, our new OTC trading service allows our clients to buy and sell digital assets directly with our team of experts, without the need for an exchange. Our OTC desk offers competitive pricing and deep liquidity, making it easier than ever for our clients to trade digital assets in a secure and efficient manner.

"We are excited to launch these new services, which are the result of our team's hard work and dedication to providing the best possible solutions for our clients," said Masahito Okuma, Crypto Garage's President and CEO. "Our custody and OTC trading services offer a new level of convenience and security for managing digital assets, and we are confident that they will help drive the adoption of digital assets among institutional investors."
